Panya Banjoko

On Thursday, the children were visited by professional poet and founder of the Black Archive, Panya Banjoko. She read some of her poetry and talked of her life growing up. What an inspiring visitor to our school.

Mr Daniel/Mrs Peters

Mr Daniel and Mrs Peters started our celebration with assemblies about their lives. The children were able to ask questions about what it was like as part of the post Empire Windrush generation. Thank you to all our guests this week.

Christine Hibbert

Alumni of John Clifford School (Charles Williams Infant School) and local business woman, Christine Hibbert came to visit us to tell us all about the time her parents moved from Jamaica to England.

Margaret Skelham

Thank you to Margaret Skelham who retires this week, after 31 years of service. Margaret has supported the children and the school in many different ways but most will thank her for her supervisory role within the midday team. The ladies have been supported by Margaret and all at John Clifford School will miss her organisation and support. We wish you well Margaret on your next adventure. The door of John Clifford School will remain open to you always.

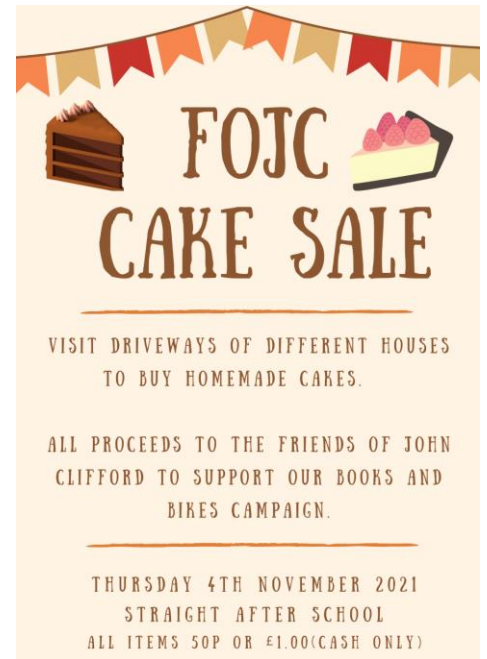

Love from all at John Clifford School xxxx

Harvest Generosity

Thank you so much for all of the donated food and sanitary products that we were able to take to Hope this week. You are amazing people and your love will be spread far and wide this Half term.

Bromcom

Please don't forget that we are moving to Bromcom for the management of communication and payments during the break. There will be a text message and communication from Bromcom to help with this transition. Any queries can be addressed by the WHPT IT Team on 1st November 2021.
